

Notice-and-take-down request

Page
1/4

We, SIDN BV, referred to below as SIDN, manage the .nl domain.

You're sending this request because you believe a domain name is clearly being used in a criminal or unlawful way.

We can only help with .nl domain names

Is the content you've seen linked to a domain name with a different extension, e.g. .com, .net or .eu? If so, you need to contact the registry that manages that extension. Visit IANA's website <https://www.iana.org/domains/root/db> to find out who the registry is.

Our NTD procedure

See our NTD procedure document for details. Before filling in this form, please note:

- We only disable domain names as a last resort.
- Computers temporarily save (or 'cache') internet content. So people may be able to go on using the domain name to view the content for days or even weeks. It's therefore best to ask others to take down the content before approaching us.
- There is the webpage <https://www.sidn.nl/en/nl-domain-name/infringement-of-rights> for complaining about a domain name and for taking action against people who infringe your rights.

Before asking us to act, you need to contact each of these people or organisations:

- The person who put the content on the internet (the uploader or writer)
- The website manager
- The registrant of the domain name the content is linked to
- The reseller (hosting service provider)
- The registrar of that domain name (the hosting service provider)
- If none of them will help, you can contact us, SIDN

Before acting on your request, we'll consider whether you've done enough to get the content taken down by the people and organisations mentioned above. So, along with the form, you need to send us copies of the letters and/or e-mails you've sent and received about the content.

Use the Whois to get the relevant contact details:

To contact the registrant, use the e-mail address of the domain name's administrative contact person. To contact the registrar (hosting service provider) use the abuse contact e-mail address often listed in the Whois, and/or visit the registrar's website for contact information.

Be sure to contact at least the registrant and the registrar. Attach copies of the e-mails you've sent and received about the problem.

1 Clearly unlawful or criminal activity

We can take action only to prevent clearly unlawful or criminal activity. If, for example, expert legal opinion is needed to decide whether an activity is unlawful or criminal, we won't do anything.

In the space below, please tell us what you've come across that is clearly unlawful or criminal. And why you think it's unlawful or criminal. If you can, include links to all the pages in question.

*Need to write more?
Put your answers in a separate document and attach it to the form.*

2 People and organisations already contacted

---

In the space below, please tell us who you've already asked to do something, without getting the problem resolved. Be sure to contact at least the registrant and the registrar. Attach copies of the e-mails you've sent and received about the problem.

To contact the registrant, use the e-mail address of the domain name's administrative contact person. To contact the registrar (hosting service provider) use their abuse contact e-mail address and/or visit the registrar's website for contact information.

*Need to write more?
Put your answers in a separate document and attach it to the form.*

3 Your interest in getting the content taken down

---

In the space below, please tell us why it's important to you that the content is taken down.

*Need to write more?
Put your answers in a separate document and attach it to the form.*

4 About you

---

*Please enter your details below. We'll use the information you give us to contact you if we've got questions or need to talk to you. We may want to give your name and your organisation's name to others. But we won't do that without first asking your permission.
If you're signing on behalf of a company or other organisation, attach evidence that you're entitled to do that (e.g. a Trade Register extract naming you).*

5 Agreement to the procedure

We'll deal with your request in accordance with our Notice-and-Take-Down procedure. By signing below, you agree to that procedure. You also 'indemnify' us. That means you're financially responsible if we get sued for acting on your request. For example, if someone loses money because we've disabled their domain name, they might try to get the money back from us.
